Who:

We invite passionate and knowledgeable professionals eager to share their insights with veterinarians, veterinary technologists, and the entire veterinary team. We are particularly interested in proposals that cover areas such as small animal, food production, ruminant, equine, animal welfare, business management, and professional wellness. If you have expertise in these fields and can inspire others through engaging presentations, we want to hear from you!

What have our speakers said about the CVMA Convention:

Well organized meeting with engaged attendees!

– 2024 CVMA Convention Speaker

I really enjoyed my time at the CVMA. Communication with staff was smooth and the hotel and conference center were nice. I am a food animal speaker but attended a small animal session that I was interested in and found attendees to be very interactive in both session areas. A very nice trip and a nice break from the heat of the southern US!
